Thomas Merton: His Ministry of Letters

Pope Francis signaled out Merton as a person of dialogue. A body of work to explore this aspect of Thomas' work are his "ministry of letters" and the many books of Merton's letters.

These include Signs of Peace: the Interfaith Letters of Thomas Merton: http://www.orbisbooks.com/signs-of-peace.html. There is also Thomas Merton: A Life in Letters: https://www.avemariapress.com/product/1-59471-256-5/Thomas-Merton-A-Life-in-Letters/.

Thomas Merton: A Life in Letters: The Essential Collection. By: Thomas Merton, Edited William H. Shannon and Christine M. Bochen.

Now available in paperback, this expert distillation of Thomas Merton's letters offers a glimpse into the mind and heart of this fascinating monk, mystic, poet, and prophet. In Thomas Merton's A Life in Letters: The Essential Collection, one encounters a variety of his friends and acquaintances, including Pope John XXIII, Jackie Kennedy, Dorothy Day, and Thich Nhat Hanh.

Signs of peace: the interfaith letters of Thomas Merton, by William D. Apel

During the last decade of his life, Thomas Merton corresponded with people around the globe about world religions and the need for interfaith understanding. Initiating contact with figures like Zen scholar D.T. Suzuki, Thich Nhat Hanh, and Rabbi Abraham Heschel, he sought not only to expand his understanding of other faiths, but to find like-minded friends who might share his dream of a global community of the spirit. Such people, whom he called living "sacraments" or signs of peace, were those "able to unite in themselves and experience in their own lives all that is best and most true in the numerous spiritual traditions."
